NTEU Seminar Series

CELESTE LIDDLE
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, the University and beyond

The NTEU is proud to host Celeste Liddle for the April installment of the NTEU Seminar Series. Celeste is an Arrernte woman living in Melbourne. She is the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Organiser for the NTEU, a social commentator and freelance writer and a noted activist who, in 2017, was inducted into the Victorian Women’s Honour Roll. Celeste blogs personally at Rantings of an Aboriginal Feminist. Celeste will reflect on her experiences as both a student and a union organiser in the higher education sector, particularly on barriers and important issues for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. She will also discuss broader questions such as Treaty and the Federal Government’s Community Development Program, including the role of the university in these public debates.

WHEN: Friday 13 April, 12-1pm
WHERE: Hedley Bull Building, Theatre 2, ANU

Lunch provided.

For more information, or to RSVP, contact Lachlan at lclohesy@nteu.org.au or 0418 493355.

nteu.org.au/join