BACKGROUND

As UN Women has noted in its Most Recent Progress of the World’s Women report, women throughout the world make enormous contributions to economies, whether in businesses, on farms, as entrepreneurs or employees, or by doing a wide variety of unpaid work at home and in the community. But they also remain disproportionately affected by poverty, discrimination and exploitation. Gender discrimination means women often end up in insecure, low-wage jobs, and constitute a small minority of those in senior positions. It curtails access to economic assets such as land and loans. It limits participation in shaping economic and social policies. And, because women perform the bulk of household work, they often have little time left to pursue economic opportunities. Historically, the introduction of the analytical category of gender has implicitly assumed malleability in gender roles and relations, but there are three areas where change and progress has been less evident: women’s political participation, women’s share of wealth (assets and capitals) and reduction of violence against women. Changes at a glacial pace have posed the need to rethink current analysis of gender and the way it is used in development to transform durable gender inequalities and injustice. We need to enhance women’s ability to contribute to sustainable, shared prosperity and identify new ways in which they can flourish. How can women’s empowerment be strengthened and redeveloped? How do we connect women’s empowerment approaches to questions of agency and social and economic transformation?

This activity aims to provide intellectual leadership to UNWOMEN on the obstacles that gender norms represent for gender equality, sustainable development and global prosperity. This important activity is aligned with numerous Flagship Programming Initiatives (FPIs)¹ and the Theories of Change (ToC) towards achieving the outcomes and goals articulated in UN Women’s Strategic Plan in close partnership with civil society and partner governments. And particularly to address aspects of economic prosperity and cultural change in the three new Flagship Programs on Women’s Economic Empowerment.

At the same time, the Sustainable Development Goals represent an opportunity to reframe prosperity for different forms of gender flourishing, that is why there is a need to explore how UN Women will address this challenge and lead on these issues in the future. In these sense, UN Women wants to explore and build the capacity along with other participants, and discuss with potential donors new perspectives on gendered approaches to shared, sustainable prosperity.

¹ The Flagship Programming Initiatives (FPIs) are high-impact, scalable programmes that will carry the bulk of UN Women’s growth. They build on and supplement, not replace, UN Women’s ongoing programming work. All FPIs adopt a rights-based approach by strengthening the voice of women and girls to remove structural barriers for gender equality and women’s empowerment (GEWE).

Each FPI is based on a comprehensive theory of change (TOC), which articulates the causal linkages and actions required by national, CSOs, UN, ODA and private partners in order to achieve transformative change in the lives of women and girls. The FPI theories of change build on the overall theory of change within UN Women's Strategic Plan, which highlights that women’s political and economic empowerment, as well as ending violence against women and girls are both causes and consequences of each other.
DELIVERABLES

In this regard, UN Women is seeking an Academic Institution to support the institutions leadership through two main deliverables:

1) To produce an original paper that summarizes the thinking of the main researcher on Sustainable Development and Global Prosperity Identifying Challenges and New Perspectives on Economics, Material Life and Gender Equality.

2) To develop briefing pack with the concepts and topics outlined above and their relation to women’s economic lives: The pack should include a world class original background paper about the topic. The pack should include selected readings on critical analyses of the 2030 Agenda, the SDGs, global economic trends and governing institutions. The pack will be used in the future for UNWOMEN’s training purposes.

The design of a face to face expert meeting in Bangkok, Thailand on “Sustainable Development and Global Prosperity: Challenges and New Perspectives on Economics, Material Life and Gender Equality”: The expert meeting should be carried out as a high level discussion among a select group of intellectuals and development practitioners about the issues and challenges posed by the background paper, the briefing pack and the main researcher’s ideas. The number of participants is limited to 20 by invitation only. The academic institution is expected to select and secure the participation in a 1 day expert meeting of highly qualified group of experts, intellectuals and decision makers on gender issues from diverse points of the globe, if necessary. All travel costs of experts outside Asia Pacific will be budgeted and managed by the academic institution. The contractor will be required to make available materials for the participants, confirmation of experts and all substantive matters involved during the workshop. The logistics for the meeting in Bangkok will be organized by ROAP, such as booking the meeting venue, meals, accommodation arrangements, etc. All pre and post meeting documentation will be organized by the contractor. The proposed outcomes at the expert meeting include but are not limited to:

A. Gain knowledge and understanding of :
   - Analysis of sustainable global prosperity, subjectivity, cultures of gender, and an understanding of how the latter may present obstacles and opportunities for women’s flourishing;
   - The current trends in technology and how they are shaping and changing cultural attitudes to gender and in which directions.

3) To design a one day training on Sustainable Development and Global Prosperity Identifying Challenges and New Perspectives on Economics, Material Life and Gender Equality. The academic institute will also provide a summary of the first day’s discussion. The design and content of the workshop will serve as a basis for future training.

4) To elaborate a brief document that provides programming priorities for a multiyear research and programming agenda on Sustainable Development and Global Prosperity Identifying Challenges and New Perspectives on Economics, Material Life and Gender Equality

Evaluation Methodology and Criteria

1. Cumulative Analysis Methodology: A proposal selected on the basis of cumulative analysis where total score is obtained upon a combination of the weighted technical and financial attributes.

A two-stage procedure will be utilized in evaluating of the proposals; the technical proposal will be evaluated with a minimum pass requirement of [80%] of the obtainable 1000 points assigned for technical proposal. A proposal shall be rejected at this stage if it fails to achieve the minimum technical threshold of [80%] of the obtainable score of 1000 points prior to any price proposal being opened and compared. The financial proposal will be opened only for those entities whose technical proposal achieved the minimum technical threshold of [80%] of the obtainable score of 1000 points and are determined to be compliant. Non-compliant proposals will not be eligible for further consideration.

The total number of points which a firm/institution may obtain for its proposal is as follows:

- Technical proposal: 1000
- Financial proposal: 200
- Total number of points: 1200

Evaluation of financial proposal:

In this methodology, the maximum number of points assigned to the financial proposal is allocated to the lowest price proposal. All other price proposals receive points in inverse proportion.

A formula is as follows:

Where:

- \( p \) = points for the financial proposal being evaluated
- \( y \) = maximum number of points for the financial proposal
- \( \mu \) = price of the lowest priced proposal
- \( z \) = price of the proposal being evaluated

The contract shall be awarded to the proposal obtaining the overall highest score after adding the score of the technical proposal and the financial proposal.
Evaluation of technical proposal:

The technical proposal is evaluated and examined to determine its responsiveness and compliancy with the requirements specified in this solicitation documents. The quality of each technical proposal will be evaluated in accordance with the following technical evaluation criteria and the associated weighting (total possible value of 1200 points):

[Insert the criteria that will be used for evaluation below. The score weights and points obtainable in the evaluation sheet must be filled in for each level of criteria depending on the need or major attributes of technical proposal]

Annex V
Format of Financial Proposal

The Financial Proposal must be prepared as a separate PDF file from the rest of the RFP response as indicated in Clause 3.4.1 of the Instruction to Proposers. The components comprising the total price must provide sufficient detail to allow UN Women to determine compliance of proposal with requirements as per TOR of this RFP. The Proposer shall include a complete breakdown of the cost elements associated with each line item and those costs associated with any proposed subcontract/sub-awards (separate breakdown) for the duration of the contract. Provide separate figures for each functional grouping or category.

Estimates for cost-reimbursable items, if any, such as travel, and out of pocket expenses should be listed separately.

In case of an equipment component to the service provided, the Financial Proposal should include figures for both purchase and lease/rent options. UN Women reserves the option to either lease/rent or purchase outright the equipment through the Contractor.

In addition, the financial proposal must include, but not necessarily be limited to, the following documents:

1. A summary of the price in words and figures
   i. Price breakdown: The price must cover all the services to be provided and must itemize the following:
      a. An all-inclusive fee rate per working day for each expert to be assigned to the team. The fee rate must include remuneration of each expert, all administrative costs of employing the expert and the margin covering the Proposer overhead and backstopping facilities
      b. An all-inclusive daily subsistence allowance (DSA) rate for every day in which the experts shall be in the field for purposes of the assignment.
      c. An all-inclusive amount for necessary international travel and related expenses by the most appropriate means of transport and the most direct economy class practicable route. The breakdown shall indicate the number of round trips per team member.
      d. An all-inclusive amount for local travel, if applicable.
      e. If applicable, other costs required for purposes of the assignment not covered in the foregoing or beneath paragraphs such as communication, printing and dispatching of reports to be produced during the assignment, rental and freight of any instruments or equipment required to be provided by the Proposer for the purposes of the services, office accommodation, investigations, surveys, etc.
      f. Summary of total cost for the services proposed.
ii. Schedule of payments: Proposed schedule of payment might be expressed by the Proposer, and payment will be made by UN Women in the currency of the proposal. The payment schedule must be linked to the delivery of the outputs specified in your technical component.

All prices/rates quoted must be exclusive of all taxes, since the United Nations, including its subsidiary organs, is exempt from taxes.

NOTE: In case two (2) proposals are evaluated and found to be the same ranking in terms of technical competency and price, UN Women will award offer to the company that is either women owned or has women in majority shareholding in support of UN Women’s core mandate. In the case that both companies are women owned or have women in majority shareholding, UN Women will request best and final offer from both proposers and shall make a final comparison of the competing proposers.
