2016 Call for Submissions

First published in 1984, Lilith is a peer-reviewed academic journal which publishes articles and book reviews in all areas of women’s, feminist and gender history – not limited to Australia.

Lilith is currently seeking submissions for the 2016 edition. Alongside academic research articles, Lilith is also interested in publishing short historiographical and methodological pieces. In addition, we are seeking book reviewers with expertise on topics relating to Australian women’s history.

Lilith is a valuable forum for both new and established scholars in the field. We particularly encourage submissions from Australian and international postgraduate students and early career researchers.

For details about our submission guidelines and for information regarding book reviews, please see our website: http://www.auswhn.org.au/lilith. To submit papers please email: lilithjournal@gmail.com.

The deadline for submissions for the 2016 issue is

September 30 2015

Lilith is the journal of the Australian Women’s History Network and is produced by the Lilith Editorial Collective – a group of postgraduates and early career researchers from across Australia – along with a distinguished editorial advisory board of leading scholars in the field.

For further information about the Australian Women’s History Network, including subscription and membership details, go to: http://www.auswhn.org.au/. The AWHN is also on Twitter @auswhn.

To keep up to date with Lilith, follow us on Twitter @LilithJournal or search for us on Facebook.