The dialogue is a unique opportunity, particularly with Australia sitting on both the UN Security Council and the UN Women Board, to reflect on United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 and to monitor the first year of implementation of the Australian National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security.

We invite members of the international development NGO community, academics, students, advocates and members of the public to join us in revisiting the core components of the National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security and reviewing its progress over the past year.
